Answer the reference questions below using Ivy Tech’s OPAC and WorldCat.

1. Does Ivy Tech own a copy of Statistical Concepts: A Second Course by Lomax?
   (Hint: You may want to revisit your answer to this question after you do question 2!)

   No, I did not find a copy, even after doing question 2.

2. In what nearby library can I find a print copy?

   IU Bloomington

3. Can I borrow a copy of How to Enjoy Your Retirement from an Ivy Tech library?
   No, I couldn’t find this through Ivy Cat either.

4. Where (or where else) can I borrow it?
   University of Indianapolis Krannert Memorial Library

5. I need a video (DVD format) about Franklin Roosevelt. Does Ivy Tech have any?
   Give one title if you find any. (Assume they would be listed in the OPAC.)

   Title:
   FDR written and produced by David Grubin ; a David Grubin Productions, Inc. film for American experience.

6. What (other) library does have something? Give one title and a library where it can be found nearest to you.

   Franklin Delano Roosevelt - IMCPL
7. I need an article from the Canadian Journal of Information & Library Science from volume 24 in 1999. Does Ivy Tech have this either in printed form or online in a database?

Directions: Check the OPAC first because any journal held will be listed by title there. If you don't find it listed there, go to the Search & Find page on the Virtual Library and select IvyJo at the bottom. This tool will tell you if the journal is covered in any of the Ivy Tech online databases and for what years.

8. Where (or where else) in Indiana can I find a copy? This may be a challenging search in WorldCat. Try a couple different approaches. It is listed. Be sure to check holdings volumes/years. You are looking for volume 24 in 1999.

IUPI is one of eight Indiana libraries that have a copy.

9. Does Ivy Tech-Central Indiana (Indianapolis campus) carry the print version of The Journal of Nursing Education?

No, Central Indiana does not carry the print version, though several other campuses do.

10. Use the E-Journal tab on IvyCat and determine if there is access to this title online. If so, how far back does the run go?

Journal of nursing education from 05/01/1997 to present.
